

OIL REFINERIES ON BORNEO HIT

Assault On Balikpapan Is Sixth; Fighters Fly 1500 Miles

Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, Friday, Oct. 13 (AP)—Five groups of heavy bombers, escorted by fighters, plastered the oil refineries at Balikpapan, Borneo, Tuesday, headquarters announced today.

A total of 135 tons of explosives was unloaded on the vital petroleum center which produces 15 per cent of Japan's aviation gasoline.

It was the sixth and heaviest raid in the recent neutralization campaign against Balikpapan which was begun recently.

This raid also was the first escorted attack on the Borneo base. Fighter planes flew over 1500 miles to protect the heavy bombers, believed to be the greatest operational distance for fighters in the history of aerial warfare.

The Tokyo radio, reporting the raid Wednesday night, U. S. time, said more than 100 Liberators and 30 fighter planes made the assault.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command said the cracking plant at Balikpapan had been rendered totally and probably permanently inoperable, and the paraffin refinery was heavily damaged during the latest assault.

Heavy explosions and great fires engulfed the target area. Smoke rose to 20,000 feet.

Fighting Men Do Not Look Like Pictures

BY KENNETH DIXON

With the AEF in France, Oct. 6 (Delayed) (AP)—A battered three-months old magazine just showed up in this rifle company command post and the doughboys now are gazing at illustrations supposed to represent frontline fighting men.

It is a scene I have watched many times in Africa, Italy and France. By now, most combat line soldiers long since have given up hope that the folks at home ever will understand.

Dirty and Bearded

But still they make bitter remarks. And a few still hope that some day maybe the folks will know what it's like. So here is one more attempt:

Right now the commander of this company looks worse than any drunk who has slept three nights in the gutter. He is dirty, bearded and beary-eyed, coughing badly and probably running a high temperature. His tangled and twisted hair sticks up from his head at crazy angles. He doesn't look like the officer in the magazine.

There is nothing handsome or romantic about the sergeant who just came back from patrol. He literally stumbled down the steps to this basement under a shell-shattered house because he is shattered with sleeplessness. His four-day old beard is flecked with mud and food and hairs from a wet and dirty blanket in which he wrapped himself for two hours of rest between patrols. His shaking hands spilled the coffee he tried to drink a few moments ago, drooling muddy rivers down his chin. He's a good soldier, but he looks more like a scared, cold and dirty invalid.

Wrung Out By Fear

The private who came with him looks even worse. His body, whipped into stringy flesh, is crumpled slackly into wet and shapeless clothes. One pant leg is tucked into a combat boot. The other trails on the ground, frayed and muddied.

Waiting, huddled against the wall, he trembles constantly and almost uncontrollably. You can't tell whether it's from the cold or from the sound of the mortar shells that have been falling near the command post all morning.

He and the sergeant both are sick with fright and long since completed, the seaman will receive a period of leave.

NAZIS COWER IN CAVES OF FLAMING CITY

not evacuating Aachen. Try to tell that to the boys up there who are doing the fighting and give them a laugh."

The German radio, still pledging resistance to the death, described the Aachen action as "the greatest battle ever fought on the western front."

Yanks Held Back

Associated Press Correspondent William S. White reported from outside Aachen that doughboys with rifles and grenades cleared the Germans from the factory suburb of Schleithof on the northeast and were harassed only by the sporadic fire of snipers.

But American commanders held their troops back from the big assault on the main section of this city at the frontier of Germany while for the second day the big guns ringing Aachen poured in cascades of steel and bombers struck in waves at 15-minute intervals.

The enemy garrison, under Hitler's orders to stand and die, covered with from 5,000 to 10,000 civilians in the ancient caves, basements and sewers of this city which Charlemagne made the seat of empire.

Through the smoke and rain a few enemy soldiers and civilians, ignoring the Nazi dictum, slipped through into the American lines, but the groups were small, the largest numbering about 50, White said.

Rotterdam Docks Ruined

Meanwhile, action flared in Holland, where the Germans were reported to have blown up more than 10 miles of quays and docks in that country's second largest city of Rotterdam.

Roads south and east out of Rotterdam were clogged with German transport, a front dispatch said, indicating the Germans were preparing to pull out of northwestern Holland or were shifting the bulk of their estimated 150,000 garrison southward to meet the Canadians and British.

In favor of the theory that they were being called home for the final battles inside the Reich was the discovery by the British Second army that the Germans had abandoned abruptly a bridgehead, 12 miles wide on the south bank of the Neder Rhine between Arnhem and Rotterdam.

The Canadians, keeping up the pressure on this German force from the south, poured reinforcements into their widening beachhead on the Schelde estuary west of Antwerp and to the east fought within two miles of the enemy base of Bergen Op Zoom, 19 miles north of Antwerp.

Advances In Foothills
The U. S. Third army in northern France slugged it out with counter-attacking Germans north of Nancy and at Malzeville-Les-Metz, six miles north of Metz, where the enemy had converted basements into anti-tank nests.

The U. S. Seventh army on the southern end of the 460-mile front repulsed counter-blows around Le Thillot, 15 miles north of Belfort, and made limited advances through the foothills of the Vosges Mountains north of that strategic doorway to the southern Rhineland.

Eleven miles southeast of Aachen, however, the Americans were forced to fall back from the area of Germetier under furious counter-blows, but this was regarded as a local engagement.

Counter-balancing this reverse, the Americans to the north, fighting through strongly defended Hurtgen forest, cut one of two main highways leading south out of Duren, road junction 20 miles west of Cologne. The road was severed one mile southwest of the village of Hurtgen.

The British Second army attacked sharply on the southern flank of its front facing the German frontier along the Maas River in eastern Holland, driving the enemy back a mile on a front of a little over a mile near Overloon before the surprised foe brought up mortars and artillery.

Light Opera Wins Favor Of Capacity Audience

"Naughty Marietta," Victor Herbert's light opera, finally arrived last night at William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium, and a capacity audience found that the American Civic Opera Company's presentation was well worth waiting for and expressed its sentiments in hearty applause.

The spirit of the comic opera was followed to the letter by the cast, headed by the tiny blonde Joanne Leonard, who possesses a truly lovely soprano voice, in the title role, and Reed Lawton, whose baritone has range and power as well as beauty, in the role of Captain Richard Warrington.

Dialogue was clear, which kept up the pace of the production, and the well-loved melodies of Victor Herbert need no comment. Suffice it to say that there were sighs of content from the audience as the opening strains of each favorite were heard, from the opening marching song, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," to the final curtain ensemble of "Sweet Mystery of Life."

Particularly stirring was "I'm Falling in Love With Someone," sung by the principals and "Naith a Southern Moon," a solo of Hedy Muller, in the role of "Adah," the quadroon slave.

Comedy aplenty brightened the production, which pleased the audience no end, particularly the songs and antics of the Casquette

Girl and Whipping Boy team.

Gina, a Favorite

Also meriting encore applause was little Gina Valente, child prodigy, who accompanied Miss Leonard in the Italian Street Song, and who also appeared later as piano soloist.

The company's orchestra, directed by Ciro Valente, Gina's father, was excellent, and its opening overture was as fully enjoyed as its accompaniment.

All in all, "Naughty Marietta" left little to be desired in music and in entertainment, outside of the wish expressed by many as the audience left the auditorium, that more of this same type of production may be brought to Escanaba in the future.

PLAN CONCERT HERE MONDAY

School Musicians Will Present Program At Auditorium

The various high school musical groups that presented selections at the teachers conference sessions in Escanaba last week will be grouped for a concert at the junior high school auditorium Monday evening, October 16, Paul Bowers, Escanaba high school music director, has announced.

The concert will begin at 7:30 p. m. and will be open to the general public, exclusive of grade school children. There will be no admission charge.

The organizations that will be heard at the concert include the all grade school orchestra, the senior high school band, Dan Raess, vocalist, and the massed girls' glee club.

The concert program will be announced later, Mr. Bowers said.

HEAVY SOLDIER VOTE ASSURED

More Than 55 Percent Of Michigan Servicemen Return Ballots

Lansing, Oct. 12 (AP)—Gust T. Hartman, deputy secretary of state, said today he had made a spot check of industrial cities of Michigan which indicated the soldier vote Nov. 7 would be "heavier than many people would have you believe."

The survey, as of Oct. 10, disclosed that an average of slightly more than 55 per cent of applicants for Michigan soldier ballots already had returned their filled-out ballots to election officials in the nine industrial cities checked, Hartman said.

In Detroit, he said, of 50,000 applications, more than 30,000 service men already had filled out their ballots and returned them. In other cities, he added, only percentages were reported.

They are: In Grand Rapids, 50 per cent of the requested soldier ballots have been returned to election officials; in Flint, 45 per cent; Saginaw, 60 per cent; Kalamazoo, 50 per cent; Battle Creek, 75 per cent; Lansing, 45 per cent; Muskegon, 55 per cent; Pontiac, 60 per cent.

The department of state has estimated 165,000 service men applied for absentee ballots. Said Hartman, "I believe from these figures that many more than the 80 per cent estimated by some sources will cast soldier ballots. It will be a good deal more than that. I don't see why there would be any smaller percentage of rural applicants filling out their ballots than the percentage of city service men, and if this is true my prediction is true."

JOHN FARNSWORTH

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The war sure has made a lot of changes in this old world of ours, hasn't it, Judge?" "Plenty of them, John. One that few people realize is that the rubber producing center of the world is now right here in the United States."

"When the Japs conquered the big natural rubber producing centers of the world they thought they had us licked. But in two short years, thanks to American industry, we are now producing synthetic rubber enough to supply all our military and essential civilian needs."

"Our rubber experts knew how to make it but the problem was to get the huge amounts of industrial alcohol needed. Almost overnight the country's beverage distillers stopped making whiskey and converted 100% to the production of this vital ingredient. A high government official said recently this was '...an almost unparalleled example of the overnight conversion of an entire industry from peace to war.'"

"Come to think of it, Judge, it was a mighty fortunate thing the beverage distilling industry was in existence, wasn't it?"

SHARP CUT IN DRAFT LIKELY

Tentative Notices For November Indicate Reduction

A sharp reduction in the draft call for Delta county next month has been indicated in a tentative, advance notice of call received by the local board yesterday.

A quota of 20 men for pre-induction examination and only three men for induction from Delta county in November have been tentatively assigned.

The pre-induction call for October is 28 men, who will leave Escanaba October 28 for Milwaukee for military examination. These men will be returned to Escanaba following the examination.

A total of 31 men will leave Escanaba Oct. 31 for induction. Registrants selected for this call are men who have already received their physical examinations and have been found qualified for service.

The notices to men called for pre-induction exams as well as those called for induction this month will be sent out by the local board next week, local draft officials reported.

Direct Attention To Deadline For Project Requests

Don C. Weeks, director of the Michigan Planning Commission, has directed the attention of the Delta county board of supervisors and other city and county officials to the November 1 deadline for submitting applications in the state's public works planning program.

So far applications to share in the state's program providing for the financing of one-half the cost of planning have been received by the state planning commission from the Delta county road commission, city of Escanaba, and the school district of Fairbanks township.

To participate in the program a local unit of government must file application by November 1 or advise that an application is forthcoming, Weeks pointed out.

"As you are aware, the $5,000,000 is being distributed in outright grants to pay up to 50 percent of the cost of preparing plans and specifications for postwar public construction, each applicant being limited to the amount of its apportionment under the formula of the Act. On November 1 all apportionments expire and whatever part of the fund may remain will be available to meet the needs of units of government which before that date have made formal application or have written asking for more time," Weeks advises.

After the war it is expected that wide employment on sound public works will be needed, and the state planning commission is encouraging local units of government to avail themselves of the assistance in planning postwar projects.

Thomas C. McGirr Dies In Ontario

Thomas Cunningham McGirr, of Durham, Ontario, Canada, a brother of Mrs. Tom Jones of Flat Rock, died on September 13, at the Durham Red Cross hospital, his death resulting from a stroke.

Mr. McGirr has visited with his sister on many occasions and was well known in the Flat Rock community.

He was born in Glenelg township on June 2, 1870 and his marriage to Mary Ann Ritchie took place on July 13, 1893. He was a stone mason by trade but spent the greater part of his life as foreman for the Durham Cement company and later for the Durham Sand & Stone company. He retired several years ago.

He was a member of the Orange Order and the Canadian Order of Foresters.

In addition to his widow he is survived by eleven children, twelve grandchildren and three brothers and one sister.

Services were held at Durham and burial was made there.

Helen Douglas Brings Drama Into Campaign

BY MAROUIS CHILDS

Los Angeles—One phase of the politics in this extraordinary part of the world can be summed up in Helen Gahagan Douglas, who is running for Congress in California's Fourteenth Congressional district.

An actress of distinction, Mrs. Douglas brings to the campaign platform something of the drama and the intensity of the stage. Intensity is perhaps the word that best describes her. This is, for her, no casual fling into politics to fill in the time until her actor husband, Melvin Douglas, returns from war. It's a crusade—a crusade for world organization, for the good life, for the New Deal. These are the things she talks about in the three or four speeches a day she is making.

Hollywood Is Active

Hollywood has been politically conscious for a long time. One of the first causes to stir the capital of the cinema was the Spanish Civil War. That issue—whether America should or should not help the Royalists—drew in actors, writers, directors and producers, who have ever since been on the political alert.

There is an active Hollywood committee for Roosevelt. Likewise, there is an active committee for Dewey, which includes a number of stars, some of whom turned out for the big Coliseum rally for the Republican candidate.

But no one has gone as far as Helen Gahagan Douglas. She is making politics a career, and there are professional politicians in the state who wish she had stuck to acting.

Mrs. Douglas lives in the fifteenth congressional district, which takes in Hollywood. Representative John Costello, a conservative Democrat and a member of the Dies committee, was believed to be solidly entrenched there, and Mrs. Douglas chose not to run against him in the primary. She and a great many others were surprised when Costello was defeated by Hal Styles, who has a radio program called "Know Thy Neighbor." Following in quaint custom prevailing out here, Costello ran in both primaries. He won the Republican nomination, but lost the Democratic.

As a registered Democrat, he could not be the Republican candidate. Republican leaders at this point showed great astuteness. They got together and named Gordon McDonough to run against Styles. As a successful candidate for Los Angeles County Supervisor, McDonough had been endorsed by both the CIO and AFL.

Was Ku Kluxer

Further to embarrass the Democrats, it came to light recently that Styles has been a Ku Klux Klan Kleagle back in New York State. His excuse was pretty lame, and last week the Hollywood Roosevelt committee withdrew its support of him.

In the fourteenth district, where she is running, Mrs. Douglas had no primary difficulties. She had the backing of the veteran congressman, Tom Ford, and his organization. It is largely a slum district with a population that includes a great many negroes and Mexicans.

Mrs. Douglas is an ardent Liberal. Her oppositions call her a Red, a Radical, a Communist and other harsh names which she ignores. As a campaigner, this handsome woman with the rich, low voice believes that time spent answering your opposition is time wasted.

A friend of Henry Wallace, she fought with passionate ferocity to hold the California delegation in line for his re-nomination as vice president. On the other side was State Attorney General Robert W. Kenny, who was "going along" with the Truman deal. It nearly split the party in California, and the ordeal so unnerved Mrs. Douglas that the speech she delivered at the convention in Chicago fell flat.

Her election, over William D. Campbell, who has three times been defeated in the same district, seems almost a certainty. She is typical, in her way, of a phase of American politics as is Governor Saltonstall of Massachusetts. In his way, it's wonderful to think of a congress that will contain Everett Saltonstall and Helen Gahagan Douglas. You can't down a country that makes it possible for that range of talent to come to the front.

Private Sivertsen Hurt In Germany

Pvt. Roy E. Sivertsen, son of Gehart Sivertsen, 220 North Eleventh street, was slightly wounded in action in Germany on Sept. 19, according to a telegram received yesterday by the father from J. A. Ulio, adjutant general of the War department.

The message informed Mr. Sivertsen that he would be further advised as reports of his son's condition are received.

REV. ANDERSON TO COME HERE

Accepts Call To Evangelical Covenant Church

Rev. John P. Anderson, of Uppsala, Minn., has accepted a call to the Evangelical Covenant church of this city, as successor to Rev. Clarence Satterbloom, and will begin his duties here on November 1.

Rev. Mr. Anderson has been pastor of the Uppsala Covenant church for the past seven years. The pastor and members of his family will occupy the parsonage which is located at 524 South Fourteenth street. Rev. and Mrs. Anderson have five children, three daughters, and two sons, both of whom are in the United States Marine Air Corps. One son, Captain John Anderson was reported missing in action a few months ago and no definite information has yet been received concerning him.

Newberry

Potato Harvest

Newberry—Many students of the Newberry High as well as a number from the Junior High are still assisting Luce county farmers to harvest their potato crop, and they are being excused from classes each day and working week ends. This is all being done with school authorities in co-operation with William Battan, Luce county agricultural agent, with the assistance of H. E. Kilpela.

Mrs. Peter Anderson was pleasantly surprised this week, when a number of her friends called to wish her greetings on her 63rd birthday. She received a number of pretty gifts. The table was prettily decorated with birthday decorations and the birthday cake and candles.

Stalin Comes Thru

AS THE European war approaches the stage of final annihilation of Germany, itself, Premier Stalin, of Russia, becomes more vocal in expressing his appreciation of America's aid to her allies, in bringing war's destruction to the once sacred homeland of Nazism. Speaking at a meeting with Prime Minister Churchill, of England, in Moscow on Wednesday night, the great leader of Russia's people spoke in glowing terms of the aid given by the United States and said that while Britain and Russia had played important roles, it was the stupendous production of war materials by America that turned the tide of the conflict.

This enthusiastic expression of appreciation of America's vast contributions to Russia's magnificently unprecedented fighting effort, coming from a leader so implicitly trusted by his people, should serve to modify at least, the suspicions of those who constantly seek to discredit Russia's honesty and her post war intentions.

In recent months Joseph Stalin has gone through cleanly in his dealings with America.

As a people we want no part of Russia's form of government. The great sacrifices made in this war by the Russian people, to perpetuate that government, is tragic proof of their loyalty. As long as Russia's leaders keep their word with the United States and our allies and are content to keep their government for themselves, we have no basis for serious quarrel with an ally that has in recent months, especially, displayed a sane attitude toward post war dealing the devastated small nations of Europe.

Our War Fund

TODAY marks the opening of the Delta county drive to raise $40,000 for the United War Fund and for local agencies. It is the biggest drive of its kind in the history of the county. It is larger because the need is greater this year—the third long year since Pearl Harbor.

The National War Fund is not government controlled. It works through its affiliated state organizations and they, in turn, through county committees. Every city and township is included.

Through this organization the American people are offered the opportunity to give for our own—and for our Allies.

For our own, it means funds to continue the operation of the USO, the United Seamen's Service, War Prisoners Aid; and right here in Delta county for the Boy Scouts of America, the Salvation Army, Campfire Girls, Girl Scouts, Veterans Relief, and Cod Liver Oil fund.

For our Allies it means funds to care for child war victims, food for those whose lands have been stripped by the Nazis, medical aid for the undernourished and the ill, shelter and clothing for the victims of ruin and pillage, and millions of other acts of kindness.

The Delta county War Fund includes this year, as last year, every major agency in the county which depends on public solicitation for funds to operate, except the Red Cross. Thus it is possible to confine fund drives to two major ones each year—the War Fund and the Red Cross. The War Fund, by including the local agencies, has become a community chest, a forward step in locally financing local organizations which had long been discussed but never before became an actuality.

The War Fund deserves and will receive the support of all our people.

Service Men Interested

MORE than 4,300,000 service men and women have applied for absentee voters' ballots, revealing that they are more interested in the coming presidential election than was at first supposed.

There are somewhat more than 11,000,000 in the armed forces. Despite the fact that many of these men are primarily interested in the bloody battle for survival on overseas war fronts, they have taken time off to fill application blanks and send them back home.

In many of the elections held in the past less than half of the voters have shown enough interest in public affairs to bother about going to the polls. Obviously, the men who are fighting over there want something to say about the running of governmental affairs at home. And when they return, they will make their influence felt to a much greater degree.

The Lesson of Warsaw

WARSAW was the first European capital to fall in World War II. And now the cynical may say that it was also the first capital to fall in the rising conflict of dissension which threatens to involve great sections of Europe in post-war civil strife. The Nazis are once again masters of the city, after a two-months battle against a heroic underground army that fought and died for Poland while an outside political struggle sickened and isolated and finally doomed it.

The Second Battle of Warsaw might well be called the Battle of the Sphere of Influence. Its story has already been told in Yugoslavia, and threatens to be repeated in Greece. In each case an exiled pre-war government, supported by London, has been pitted against suppressed minority groups which have rallied to hitherto little-known leaders and flourished with Moscow's blessing.

Charge and counter-charge have thundered back and forth until it is impossible to know precisely what has happened. Nor can it be said who is right or wrong, for at the moment right or wrong is a matter of a person's political complexion. The only ones who can or should make the final judgment are the people of the countries involved. And that judgment should be the decision of a free election when the war is over.

In the meantime the job is to fight the Germans. Instead, we know that Greek has killed Greek, and Serb and Croat have turned their guns on one another. No one has gained but the Nazis. It is a situation they have fostered and hoped for. And they will continue to foster it as long as they can, for they base their hope of escaping complete defeat on dissension. It is their no-longer-secret weapon.

It is a tragic, disheartening thing that the men of Warsaw could not die in the knowledge that they had dealt a telling blow against the forces that tortured them and robbed them of their freedom. Instead, it was in the knowledge that they were caught between the millstones of stubborn political complexes.

Good Hunting Promised

THE hunter who comes back from camp without his deer this season will have only himself to blame.

A census taken by the Michigan conservation department indicates that the state's deer population is on the increase. The favorable condition of the deer herd is attributed to the unusually mild winter and fewer deaths from starvation.

Again, the efficacy of Michigan's one-buck law is being demonstrated. It has assured hunters of favorable hunting conditions every season, with few exceptions. There are times when there has been too large an increase of population in certain areas, with the result that the food supply becomes scarce and some deer die. But Nature and the one-buck law usually work together to strike a reasonable balance.

TO CURB VENEREAL DISEASE (Milwaukee Journal)

During the first half of this year, 579 new cases of syphilis were treated in Wisconsin's 16 venereal disease clinics. The case histories of these patients should persuade citizens that the state needs better methods of venereal disease control. While it remains true that Wisconsin is exceptionally low in the incidence of syphilis, there is ample room for improvement.

The record shows that 397 of those visiting the clinics as new cases had received treatment previously but had not continued it long enough to be cured. More than 100 of the others had had the disease for an extended period but had not been aware of it. This leaves only about 80 who were recently infected and who sought immediate treatment.

All this points to the need for three things which we do not now have—a wide educational program on the dangers of venereal infection; a means of uncovering hidden cases; a strong law to force complete treatment on those found to be infected. The state health department should press for all three of these things. Citizens should join in the demand that the three be provided.

SOFT PENALTIES (Iron Mountain News)

The liquor commission, acting through its member, Felix Flynn, has been letting the violators off the past few days of hearings in the peninsula with penalties much lighter than should be imposed on them. In relatively few of the cases have there been extenuating circumstances that carry any weight. In most of them those called to account knew they were violating the law. They violated it to secure more profit, in hope that they would not be caught, or, if they were, that they would be dealt with considerately. In the latter hope the character of most of the penalties imposed by Mr. Flynn shows they were fully justified.

The principal responsibility for persistence of violations rests on the commission. It has had the choice between a tough and an easy policy. If it had been tough from the beginning, by this time it would have relatively few violations to deal with. Because it has been easy there has been no great decrease in the number, and there is little likelihood that there will be. The failure of the members to support the hands of their own investigators and the local police by slapping down in no uncertain manner on those who are shown to have broken the law with full knowledge of what they were doing has been discouraging to both.

The commission today is no more at fault than its predecessors and Mr. Flynn is no more futile in his efforts to lay a ground work for enforcement than other members who have been delegated to the task have been. If the commission is not esteemed highly in the state, and it is not, its failure to compel respect for the law is one of the principal reasons.

IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD (Grand Rapids Press)

Even a congressman gets mad enough once in awhile to complain to the government.

Obviously it wouldn't have done Representative Errett Scrivner (R-Kan.) any good to write to his congressman, because

The Round Table

BY RAYMOND MOLEY

It has been clear since 1940 that the great role that Wendell L. Willkie might play in American life could not be as a candidate or as a holder of public office. Whether or not he was aware of it, his independent conduct had closed the road to Party or Public office for him.

A true Party leader must weld into unity the views and sentiments of millions of voters and hundreds of leaders. This takes patience, forbearance and a subordination of personal views and ambitions to the general purposes of unity. Mr. Willkie was within his rights in refusing to do these things. But in making that choice, he must have known that he was closing the way to an official career. One cannot be a bishop and a free-thinker, too.

But independence of the sort that he enjoyed opened a vast horizon of usefulness to him as a publicist, a stimulant to public thinking and an irritant to both political parties. Ultimately, like Bryan before him, he might have accepted that role, which he would have filled with distinction and force. The country needs such free-lances, and the untimely end of Wendell L. Willkie is a distinct loss to us all.

Whether Mr. Willkie had comprehended this opportunity to be useful outside of both parties after his Wisconsin defeat may never be known. But the frustration of his efforts to capture a second nomination should have made it very clear indeed.

The choice made both by Republican leaders and by Republican voters in preferring Mr. Dewey to Mr. Willkie was a fearsome one. Most Republican leaders had no animosity toward their 1940 choice, but profoundly believed, in 1944, that he could not win. Others were angry because Mr. Willkie had neglected them. But all decided that Mr. Dewey would be the best candidate, in spite of their fear that Mr. Willkie might oppose their choice. That Mr. Willkie's open opposition might grievously injure Republican chances in November has been admitted everywhere.

Fate has now answered the question of what Mr. Willkie might or might not have done, and party unity is assured. Mr. Dewey's international views go far enough to satisfy practically every former supporter of Mr. Willkie. These supporters can now join the Dewey cause with confidence and vigor.

Mr. Willkie imprinted his influence deeply on the Republican Party, despite the shortness of his association with it. That influence will remain as one of the many things which he left as monuments to his energy, forthrightness and independence.

Take My Word For it . . . Frank Colby

OH, THOSE ADVERBS!

Some mistakes in language are downright infectious. To my mind, the most virulent of these common errors is the use of adverbs in constructions that plainly call for adjectives. Examples such as these are to be found on every hand:

1. Ray Cronin, Associated Press: "Guam was securely in American hands."
2. Elmer Davis, radio address from Pearl Harbor: "The Marianas are securely in American control."
3. Martin Agronsky, radio commentary: "They were safely below during the bombardment."
4. Henry Gladstone, radio commentary: "Cassino is firmly in our hands."
5. News story, Associated Press: "The Japanese were cast helplessly into the sea."
6. Clare Booth Luce, Chicago convention: "Women do not feel differently from men."

In the first four sentences, "was, are, were, is" are forms of the verbs "to be." Obviously, a person or thing cannot "be helplessly, safely, securely."

In sentence five, it isn't the casting that is helpless—it is the Japanese. Well, even Japanese cannot "be helplessly."

Sentence six, because the adverb "differently" must modify the verb "feel," can only mean: "Women's sense of touch does not differ from that of men," or "Women, when touched, do not feel differently from men." (It isn't so!)

Rule. In describing the state or condition (physical or mental) of the subject, use an adjective. Correct: Guam was safe in American hands. The Marianas are safe in American control. They are safe below during the bombardment. Cassino is firm in our hands. The Japanese were cast helplessly into the sea. Women do not feel different from men.

he would only have been talking to himself. So he addressed his remarks to OPA.

Like millions of other Americans, Representative Scrivner doesn't like the idea of a lot of coats collecting dust and moths in the closets of the nation because the pants they used to match are worn out. In short, he asked for the return of the two-pants suit. There's plenty of wool now, he said, so why not?

OPA opined that suits with any number of pants are outside of its jurisdiction but WPR would know. WPR turned down the petition.

If Congressman Scrivner happened to read a recent item in the Chicago Journal of Commerce, reporting that WPR's limitation order controlling the manufacture of baby pins has been revoked, he couldn't be blamed if he sat right down and dashed off another letter.

"I asked," we can imagine him reproaching WPR, "for a two-pants suit and you give me a bobby pin!"

"There Are Two of Us!"

Good Morning!

CENSORSHIP — Parents and friends of the boys overseas will recall the early days of the war, when letters were so heavily censored there was little between the greeting and the farewell. Time and the progress of the war have removed most of the need for this sometimes overzealous use of the censor's scissors. Also the boys in service have come to know better what will not get by.

CMM H. H. Dunathan Spielmacher of Escanaba, stationed somewhere in the South Pacific, sends back a clipping from the mimeographed paper of his battalion which expresses the serviceman's slant on censorship of his letters.

"The main idea in censoring is to keep out of our letters material which might give the enemy information dangerous to our forces, or seriously affect the prosecution of the war. Thus, we may not say where we are, nor tell about personnel movements, nor disclose the nature of our assignments, nor disparage sweepingly our leadership, equipment or personnel. There are excellent reasons for this. When a submarine (ours or the Japs') stops an enemy ship, it tries hard to get the mail bags before sinking her; information so gained is often invaluable."

The interpretation of these rules is extremely liberal. Many a letter goes uncensored which describes in detail what G. I. Joe thinks of his officers, the food, the beds and the whole war in general. The censor probably shares the serviceman's right to gripe—one of the most pleasant pastimes in an unpleasant war.

PREMATURE—The placards in the stores advising the public that the store will "observe V-Day" are gathering dust. They were distributed, you recall, not so very long ago by the Chamber of Commerce when the war in Europe was going rapidly and folks thought victory was just around the corner.

Somehow all of us are prone to overestimate our own strength, and underestimate the power of our enemies. This is perhaps natural, but it does us no good in fighting a war. Better for all of us to consider the war far from over—our future sacrifices still in our country unpaid. The man who thinks too much of celebrating the end of a race seldom does a good job of running.

COMING TO IT—America with its still vast natural resources continues to waste its wealth, but it is beginning to realize that complete utilization of a resource is sound economy.

Emil DeBacker of St. Nicholas, whose youth was spent in Belgium, tells of wood conservation as practiced there. The scarcity of wood was a national problem, caused the government to plant and maintain tree strips along the roads and highways. When the trees matured they were auctioned off to the highest bidder. After the trees were removed by the purchaser the stumps were also auctioned off for fuel.

The purchaser of the stumps would dig them out, roots and all, and cart them home for fuel. When Emil came to America and to Delta county he was amazed at seeing acres and acres of stumps dotting our cut-over lands. Others have expressed surprise too at the height trees are cut above the ground. Perhaps some of this might be explained by the depth of snow in winter—but from the conservationist's standpoint it would be worthwhile to shovel a few feet of snow aside and cut the tree closer to the ground.

Mrs. Haring recalls that about 1917 William McHarg and Edwin Balmer wrote an interesting novel based on this legend. It's title is "The Indian Drum."

CANNIBAL SMELT—Dr. John Van Oosten of Ann Arbor, investigator for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, says the smelt are the smelt's own worst enemy. In other words they are cannibalistic and the big ones eat the little ones.

To prove the point, Dr. Van Oosten told an experience here in the study of smelt. The fish were being examined one by one when they came to one smelt which seemed unusually fat. Cutting it open they found a medium-sized smelt inside. Cutting open the medium-sized one—they found a small one inside it!

Contrary to some opinion expressed by commercial fishermen, smelt do not feed on other fish or the eggs of other fish. But they are fond of smelt.

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1934

Cattle tests for Bang's disease to be undertaken in parts of the Upper Peninsula soon may provide a partial solution of the livestock feed shortage problem. Cattle reacting to the test will be sent to the block and the owners will be reimbursed at the rate of not over $20.00 for a grade female, or $50.00 for a registered purebred animal.

Manistique — Elaborate plans are under way for the staging of a Harvest ball to be given at the old gymnasium Friday evening under the auspices of the local Business and Professional Women's club. Personnel of the committee in charge of arrangements is Freda Johnson, chairman; Leona Foye, Genevieve Mulhaupt and Florence Williams.

20 Years Ago—1924

House prowlers, whose activities early in the summer had the city in a state of turmoil, staged their first job since July early Monday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Ellsworth, 922 South Seventh street, making their get-away with money and jewelry valued at about $150.

Trout fry to the number of 556,000 were planted in 24 creeks and streams of Delta county during 1924. Deputy Herman Leisner of the state department of conservation, reported to the county board yesterday.

State food and drug chemists will be asked to test butter which is being sold on Escanaba markets as "ninety two score." It was stated yesterday by County Prosecutor Torvald E. Strom. Retailers are paying the highest prices for butter, Mr. Strom says, and of course, in turn, must get top quality.

J. A. Ailo and William Robarge returned yesterday from Milwaukee where on Sunday they attended the installation of the largest class in history of the Milwaukee Knights of Columbus in the fourth degree.

LAKE LEGEND—Some weeks ago The Bugler wrote of the Great Lakes and the legends surrounding them. Yesterday's mail brought a letter from Mrs. John Haring of Bark River Rt. 1, who directs attention to one of the most famous of Lake Michigan legends—that of the Indian Drum. Mrs. Haring writes:

"Near the Northern end of Lake Michigan, not far from the Straits of Mackinac, there is a cove or thicket of pine and hemlock back from the shingle beach. From this cove there comes at time of storm the booming of an old Indian drum."

"This drum beats, so the tradition says, whenever the lake took a life, and as a sign perhaps, that it is still the Manitou who rules the waters, the drum still beats its roll for every ship lost on the lake—one beat for every life."

Mrs. Haring recalls that about 1917 William McHarg and Edwin Balmer wrote an interesting novel based on this legend. It's title is "The Indian Drum."

CANNIBAL SMELT—Dr. John Van Oosten of Ann Arbor, investigator for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, says the smelt are the smelt's own worst enemy. In other words they are cannibalistic and the big ones eat the little ones.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington—Perhaps never in American history had there been such a unique situation between two men once engaged in a bitter, cut-throat race for the White House as occurred between Franklin Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie.

Ever since Pearl Harbor, Roosevelt and Willkie had been reasonably good friends. They never quite trusted each other politically, yet they had profound respect for the other's ideals and convictions. And plans were under way, just before Willkie was taken sick, for even closer collaboration between the two.

It was a closely guarded White House secret, but one week before Roosevelt went to Quebec to confer with Churchill, he asked for Willkie's private telephone number in Indiana—Rushville 2346—and sent word that he would want to see him before Willkie went on to California, where he was to try a case for the Giaminis. FDR had in mind asking Willkie to serve as his personal representative in Germany, in the event of an early armistice.

Willkie, of course, was taken sick at Rushville and entered a New York hospital. He never went to California, and he never saw the President.

Several times the two men were on the verge of personal rows, but they never quite came to the boiling point. They clung to a basic, though sometimes precarious, mutual esteem.

PRESIDENT APOLOGIZES TO WILLKIE
One occasion was while Willkie was on the last leg of his airplane flight around the world. He had just crossed from Siberia to Alaska when newspapermen met him with the press conference wise-crack Roosevelt had made about Willkie's pronunciation of the word "reservoir," the President giving it the more genteel Harvard accent in contrast to Willkie's harsh, middle western "r". Shown a copy of the President's remarks, Willkie was nettled, felt he had been publicly ridiculed, was about to issue a public rejoinder. But he decided to wait until he got back to the USA.

He was always glad he waited. For the next day, arriving at Calgary, Willkie received a telegram of apology from FDR and a request that he come immediately to Washington.

Willkie took very seriously that world reporting trip for the President. He felt keenly some of the things that were going on in India and China and, when he arrived in Minneapolis, he went to the home of John Cowles, co-publisher of the Cowles newspapers, for a long conference with Governor Stassen and the Cowles brothers. All evening they discussed the nature of the report Willkie should make to the President.

Next day Willkie's airplane was late. It circled and circled over the Washington airport waiting for clear weather to permit a landing. He arrived at the White House tired, his stomach a bit upset, but gave a painstaking report to the President.

ROOSEVELT LISTENS ATTENTIVELY
Word was widely circulated afterward that instead of listening to Willkie, FDR had interrupted, given him his own views, and that Willkie was hurt. I took occasion to ask Willkie about this, but he said the President had listened intently for an hour and a half with scarcely a word of interruption.

Later, however, Willkie was slightly irked when, after the Australian government had invited him to go to Australia, the White House had Mrs. Roosevelt go instead. Willkie felt that the President had not wanted him to get the publicity buildup which might come from such a trip and intervened with the Australian government.

A period of coolness followed, deepened momentarily by a Marquis Childs magazine article in which Childs quoted various belittling remarks Roosevelt was reported to have made about Willkie. The President immediately wrote Willkie a long letter taking up, point by point, the errors in Childs' article. It was a letter written by a man who cherishes the esteem of another, and it had the desired effect.

HE MIGHT HAVE SAID YES
Willkie was under tremendous pressure from Republican friends to come out for Dewey. They hounded him incessantly, but he stood pat. Several times he discussed with this columnist the question of whether he should come out for Roosevelt. At that time he felt pretty much with his old friend Albert Harding, former promoter of Warren G. Harding, that it was a choice of "holding your nose with Roosevelt and closing your eyes with Dewey, but that you never walked over a cliff holding your nose."

The clearest indication that Willkie planned to come out for Roosevelt was given to Bartley Crum, San Francisco Republican leader who has now come out for FDR himself.

"You remember when you were courting your wife," said Willkie, "and you felt pretty certain she was going to say yes in the end, but she kept stalling you? Well, I guess I'm the same way. I'm going to say yes in the end."

The next big kick will be about the high cost of giving.

The heavy question right now is to wear them or not to wear them.

The annual bonus some men will get during the coming holidays is almost gone.

It won't be long till the little kids will get their ears clean bobbing for apples.

United States naval shipping losses since Pearl Harbor represent $1,600,000,000.

ABSENT VOTERS TO SET RECORD

508 Servicemen And 133
Civilian Ballots
Issued Here

The number of absent votes which will be counted in Escanaba November 7 will set a new record for this type of ballots, according to City Clerk Carl Anderson. To date a total of 641 absent voters' ballots have been issued in response to applications.

Largest number of these applications come from servicemen and women, many of them now serving overseas. Of the total, there are 508 "soldier ballots" mailed out, and 133 ballots to civilians. This number is expected to increase as the date of the election draws nearer. Applications will be received by the city clerk to within three days of the election. Most of these later applications are expected to come from civilians or from servicemen home on leave who must leave before election day.

Servicemen and women now in Escanaba on leave, and who will not be here election day, may go to the clerk's office in city hall anytime before election and vote there. The ballot will be sealed and then opened and counted with the others on election day.

Voters who have not yet registered are reminded that October 18 is the deadline for receiving registrations. Persons who have attained the age of 21 since the last election, or persons who have established residence in the city since the last election, must register to vote.

Lt. Jon E. Andrews, Injured In France, Is Now In England

Word has been received that Lt. Jon Eastwood Andrews was injured in France, was confined to a hospital there, and recently was moved to a hospital in England.

On October 18 the office of the city clerk will be open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. continuously to permit registration.

SEEK NATIONAL TOURIST TRADE

Advertising Must Expand To Help Michigan, Says Woodfill

In the postwar years there may be a boom in Michigan's tourist industry—but come what may the State Tourist Council will have a program flexible enough to meet any condition. Stewart Woodfill, president of the Grand Hotel at Mackinac Island, and member of the Tourist Council, told the U. P. Development Bureau at its meeting in Ironwood yesterday.

The meeting, which will continue through Saturday, is called for a discussion of the part the tourist and resort industry will play in the postwar economy of the lakes states area.

Woodfill said in part:

Let's get down to cases on the American tourist business, right here in the Great Lakes region. Development of the automobile and highways flooded this region with tourists before the war, some with money, many just out for the

GIRLS ENTERING QUEEN CONTEST

Winner Will Reign At Delta Potato Show October 21

The contest to select the Delta county farm girl who will reign at the Delta county Potato Show October 21, and compete for the title of Upper Peninsula Potato Show queen is gaining momentum as the names of candidates for the title are submitted by the township committees selecting the contestants. It was announced yesterday by E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent.

Three townships have already submitted the names of their township's choice in the contest. The contestants, and the township they represent, are as follows:

Miss Viola Dumas, Ford River township.

Miss Jeannette DeBacker, Maple Ridge township.

Miss Leona Skrobinski, Bark River township.

Four townships have not yet reported their choice of candidates in the contest. Township committees yet to report are those in Escanaba, Cornell, Baldwin and Ensign.

The contestant must be a farm girl, not less than 16 years of age, and capable of presiding as queen of the Delta county show—and perhaps at the U. P. Show. Last year the Delta county queen was chosen as U. P. Potato Show queen as well.

The Upper Peninsula show this year will be held in Escanaba October 24, 25 and 26.

End Public Service Hearings In City

The Michigan Public Service commission, Gilbert T. Shilson, chairman, yesterday morning concluded hearings held in court rooms at the court house.

One of the petitioners was the Soo Line Railway, which seeks to discontinue a crossing near Fairborn in Menominee county. The order of the commission will be issued later, either permitting or preventing the requested discontinuance.

Consistory To Meet At Marquette Hall

The Frances M. Moore Consistory and Coordinate Bodies, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Free Masonry for the Upper Peninsula of Michigan will hold their thirty-eighth reunion in the Masonic Temple at Marquette on the afternoons and evenings of October 18-21 inclusive.

The Consistory will open Wednesday evening, conferring the 4th and 19th Degrees; the 14th, 15th and 18th on Thursday; the 19th, 20th and 25th on Friday; and the 21st and 32 on Saturday. Usual class luncheon will be held at the Hotel Northland at noon on Friday, the 20th.

The Ill. George E. Bushnell, 33rd, Deputy for Michigan, will be the guest of the Consistory throughout the reunion and the speaker of the evening at the closing banquet session on Saturday night.

The officers of the Frances M. Moore Consistory and Coordinate Bodies urge on behalf of the cast presenting this group of splendid degrees the attendance of every Consistory Mason. The class of candidates gives promise of being sizeable and representative.

MOVIE MAGNATE TOPS IN INCOME

Loew's Paid Mayer Total
Of $1,138,992.47 For Year's Work

Washington, (AP)—The paycheck of L. B. Mayer, the movie magnate, still is tops.

Mayer moved back into his customary first place position today as the treasury released a supplementary list of 140 persons who received from corporations compensation in excess of $75,000 for personal services in the calendar year 1942 or fiscal year ending in 1943.

Loew's Incorporated paid Mayer $1,138,992.47. Of this $104,500 was for salary, the remaining $1,034,492.47 as commission.

The original list, released in July, placed Sidney R. Fleisher, New York attorney, in first place, much to his surprise and apparent chagrin.

Fleisher was listed as receiving $645,000 from Twentieth Century Fox Film Corporation. He acknowledged he received that amount, but said all but $15,000 went to playwrights and producers he represented in the sale of picture rights on Broadway plays.

Second place in today's list went to Producer Walter F. Wanger who received $719,372.93 from Universal Pictures Company, Inc. Nicholas M. Schenck received $512,291.33. Loew's Incorporated was ranked third.

The movie industry figured largely in the supplementary list. Columbia pictures listed, among others, the following: Brian Aherne, $144,958; Fred Astaire, $75,625; Joel McCrea, $118,458; Edward G. Robinson, $129,166; Loretta Young, $85,000.

Among those receiving big paychecks from Loew's were: Edward Arnold, $99,583; Wallace Beery, $150,000; Joan Crawford, $194,615; Brian Donlevy, $141,250; Tommy Dorsey, $165,817; Irene Dunne, $200,000; Greer Garson, $159,083; Katherine Hepburn, $110,333; Harry James, $128,559; William Powell, $251,250; Robert Taylor, $176,983; Spencer Tracy, $219,871; Robert Young, $108,500.

NO MYSTERY IN MAKING GOOD COFFEE

By following three simple rules constant success is assured

Conversations about the preparation of coffee might lead one to believe that there are special tricks connected with it. However, this is not the case. The whole procedure can be summed up in three rules. First, be sure that the coffee-making utensil is absolutely clean. Second, measure the coffee and water accurately. Third, use a coffee that has a reputation for rich, uniform flavor.

Uniform flavor in coffee depends upon roasting every coffee berry evenly. To do this, however, the coffee must be roasted in small quantities instead of in bulk which is the common method.

This rule of roasting a little at a time has been followed by Hills Bros. Coffee, Inc., for years. By an exclusive process—"Controlled Roasting"—a blend of finest coffees obtainable passes through the roasters with the speed of operation and the temperature automatically controlled. Every berry is roasted evenly, none overdone, none underdone.

In spite of wartime conditions, this rich uniform quality is found in every vacuum-packed jar of Hills Bros. Coffee.

Communication

F. D. R.'s RED SUPPORT
Cornell, Mich. R. L.
Oct. 9, 1944.

Dear Editor:
"I see by the papers that the President is having a hard time trying to convince his people that he does not solicit communistic support. Be that as it may the support is there nevertheless and I can imagine that he doesn't like that sort of publicity. If the Communists were to swing to the side of "Dewey" it would be for the reason that they favored his policies or else knew they could break through his weaknesses after he had become president. But they do not seem to want Mr. Dewey."

My purpose in writing this is "openly" to secure a few votes for Dewey. I know that there was communistic action in Delta county at the time of the recent primary. I overheard very directly that the communists desired to unseat Senator Bradley. How? Figure that out.

Some people think that the communistic issue in the presidential campaign is just propaganda but it is real and underhanded. Many of you like our president and wish to see him have a fourth term, but at the same time you do not approve of Communism. If you help to re-elect Roosevelt you are paving the way for Communism in the United States. Your vote will have helped to give Communism the foothold that it needs so badly.

Think twice before you vote.

County Board Will Conduct Hearing On Equipment Purchase

The Alger county board of supervisors, at their monthly meeting Monday, adopted a resolution to investigate purchase by the county road commission of alleged outmoded road equipment at a price said to be nearly the cost of new equipment.

Some time ago, it was said, the road commission bought two 1929 model trucks for $6,000 and an ancient stone crusher which has run up a heavy repair bill.

The resolution was passed by the board following a report by George S. Baldwin, prosecutor, on complaints made to the state attorney general's office.

A hearing on the matter for the complainants and all interested parties will be held at the courthouse on Nov. 9. Members of the road commission and the county engineer will attend the meeting.

Mather Eleven Has Three Home Games

The Mather high school football squad will play at home in the last three games of the season. Saturday Manistique high provides the opposition, the following Saturday will see Newberry here and the season windup on Oct. 28 will be with the St. Joseph parishials from Escanaba.

Missing from the local lineup will be Potter, who has played good football his first year out and has developed into a good defensive end. He broke his hand in contact at Stephenson, and will be out for the season.

In their last tangle with the Manistique Braves, the Matherites were walloped 41 to 0, but the Manistique speed demon, Curley, has been injured and may not be able to take his regular position, which makes the prospect somewhat brighter for the local eleven.

Saturday's fracas, which gets under way promptly at 2 o'clock, will see Knowles and P. Reed at ends, Gatties and Beattie, at guard; Gerald and Bill Steinhoff, tackle; Johnson, center; Mazzilli, quarter; Tervo and Bernard, halves, and Oas, fullback.

MUNISING BRIEFS
Mrs. Ed Enckhorn of Fond du Lac, Wis., was a recent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Artibe.

Mr. and Mrs. John Penkrat of Detroit have moved to Munising where they will reside permanently.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everett were business visitors in Escanaba Wednesday.

John Rousseau, U. S. Coast Guard stationed on the Bob-In Islands near Cheboygan, Mich., is spending a 15 day leave with relatives and friends.

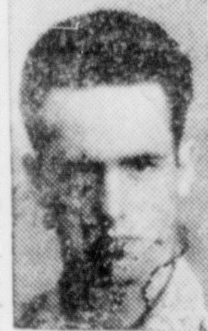

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Weyer have closed the Fruit Market and are leaving this week for Hart, Mich., to reside.

Circle 23 of St. Anthony's Guild is sponsoring a rummage sale Friday and Saturday in the old Munising cafe building.

A Columbus Day party will be given Monday, October 16, by the Munising Knights of Columbus council. Members and wives and mothers of absent members are invited to attend. A musical program will be given followed by dancing, card playing and a buffet lunch.

T. Sgt. John Yell Prisoner Of War

T/Sgt. John Yell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Yell of Munising, is a prisoner of war in Germany. He had previously been listed as missing in action since August 22 while on a bombing mission over Austria. He was a crew member on a B-17 bomber that was badly damaged over Vienna. All ten members of the crew "hit the silk" and parachuted to safety.

HEADS NEW COUNCIL

Marquette — The Marquette Council of Social Agencies, meeting Monday night in the Northern Michigan Children's Clinic, perfected its organization by adopting a constitution and electing officers.

The nominating committee composed of W. W. Blake, Arkkoll, Donald McCormick and Miss Barbara Hall, presented the following slate which was unanimously adopted: President, Mrs. Lucy Chisholm; vice-president, Miss Elba Morse; secretary-treasurer, Miss Mary L. McCormick.

WOMAN INJURED

Sault Ste. Marie—Mary Rapin, 22, of St. Ignace, is in the War Memorial hospital as a result of a car accident at 3:30 Monday afternoon on highway US-2. She was driving a car owned by Earle A. Best, of St. Ignace, when in the heavy rain the car slid onto the soft shoulder of the road, and turned over.

She suffered head and leg injuries. Her condition last night was described as "fair."

Phoebe Rebekah Lodge No. 179 will hold a regular meeting this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, at the I. O. O. F. hall, North Tenth street. The social hour will be in charge of Miss Hazel Brown, chairman, assisted by Miss Esther Anderson, Miss Alice McMartin, Mrs. Nancy Petry, Mrs. Edith Pearson and Mrs. Martha Olson.

Church Events

Special Program
Louis Palermo of the Salvation Army will give the story of the Palermo Family tonight at the service at the Central Methodist church. The public is invited to attend. There is no admission fee.

Christian Science Churches
"Doctrine of Atonement" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 15.

The Golden Text (I Thess. 5: 9, 10) is "God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ, who died for us, that whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with him."

Among the Bible citations in this passage (II Cor. 5:17): "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (45): "Christ hath rolled away the stone from the door of human hope and faith, and through the revelation and demonstration of life in God, hath elevated them to possible at-onement with the spiritual idea of man and his divine Principle, Love."

K. of C. Annual Party Attended
By Large Crowd

A large attendance marked the annual Columbus Day party at which Escanaba Council, Knights of Columbus, entertained for members and their wives and friends Wednesday evening at the K. of C. club rooms.

The program of the evening included an interesting talk on the theme of the day by Rev. Fr. Norbert Freiburger, of St. Patrick's parish; songs by George, Patsy and Anita Ammel, with accompaniment by Willard Clark; instrumental numbers by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pepin, who were accompanied by Floyd Flynn; and community singing, led by Mrs. John Kress, with Mrs. Clinton Groos, accompanist.

In the card games played following the social, Mrs. Julia Sullivan was high in bridge; Mrs. Arthur Messier, high in pinocle; and Mrs. Ray Gasman, high in five hundred.

The party was under the supervision of William Plansky, chairman of the entertainment committee, and a delicious lunch was served by Richard Juetten and his committee.

B. & P. W. Club
Meeting Monday

The Escanaba Business and Professional Woman's club will hold a joint dinner meeting with the Lions club Monday evening at 6:45 o'clock at the Sherman hotel. The speaker of the evening will be P. W. Maynard, district price economist with the Office of Price Administration, whose subject will be: "Are We Part Time Citizens?" Frank Hirn will be soloist of the program and he will be accompanied by Mrs. Hirn. Mrs. Lillian H. Reynolds is in charge of B. & P. W. arrangements for the dinner.

Plan the lighting in the living room so that each member of the family has his own reading space.

Hear Dr. Lockwood
Talk

Lincoln-Riverside PTA met Wednesday evening at the Lincoln school gym to hear Dr. C. E. Lockwood, director of the Alger-Schoolcraft county health department speak on "The Common Cold."

Lockwood stated that the peak period for colds was from September to June of each year. He suggested that rest was the best remedy. Proper diet is also important, he stressed. Cod Liver Oil is best for growing children, he continued. When a cold is felt, Lockwood stated the best thing one could do is take a few days off entirely.

The program was opened with two duets by Mr. and Mrs. Gust Nye. They sang "Serenade," and "God Bless Our Land," by Koutz. Margaret Johnson accompanied. The duets were followed by two readings by Mrs. Alex Robertson. "A Cheerful Little Earful," was the first and "About Mike," was the second.

Dr. Lockwood's talk was followed by piano selections by Carol Pasino and Sally Carlstrom. "Evening Bells" was played by Carol. "Rosey Cheeks," was played by Sally. "All Day Long" was done as a duet.

A. P. Hall, superintendent of schools introduced all the teachers who were in attendance and J. Mauritz Carlson introduced the school board members. Both groups were guests at the meeting.

Results of the membership drive announced showed that 254 names have been added to the membership list in the past month. The west side division under Mrs. Henry DeSautel recruited more members than did the east side division under Mrs. Sid Stephens. Mrs. DeSautel's group got 142 members. Of that total, the chairman herself recruited 100. Mrs. Stephens' squad got 99. Thirteen of those who have assumed membership are not credited to either side.

Mrs. Vert Guidebeck and Mrs. Theodore Richards were appointed to assume complete charge of the fat salvage drive. Mrs. Aldred Farley received appointment as chairman of the garment exchange to be established at the Lincoln school.

The committee in charge of the refreshments was: Mrs. LeRoy Gardner, Mrs. Peter Burns, Mrs. Everett Wood, Mrs. Henry DeSautel, Mrs. Leona Williams. Decorations were on the Halloween theme made by the sixth grade students.

Girl Scouts

ELKS BANQUET
WELL ATTENDEDShort Program Presented
To Over 100 Men
After Dinner

Attendance at the Elks Bowling banquet Wednesday exceeded the expected 100. The dinner at the club house was followed by a streamlined program prepared by Tom Mulrooney.

Exalted Ruler, William L. Norton was first to be introduced by toastmaster Omer Schuster. He outlined the future Elk events and welcomed the members and guests present. C. E. Leonard, chairman of the house committee followed with a talk on the progress the Elks have made in the past year and future possibilities. Fred Hahne, chairman of the bowling tournament spoke on the bowling program briefly. He said that in the tournament for the first half of this year, there were 14 teams in competition, two more than the usual 12. In the next half, he continued, there will probably be 16 teams in competition.

Archery Carpenter who recently returned to the U. S. from duty with the Seabees in the South Pacific gave a short talk on his experiences. Ben Gero Sr., who is celebrating his 50th year as a member of the Elk organization talked on what Elk membership has meant to him and what it would mean to anyone who joined the organization.

According to Norton, there will be a probable list of 30 new members taken in, one of the largest groups even initiated.

Mrs. Dan Hamiel has been dismissed from the Shaw Hospital and is recuperating at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Muthaupt.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation of the wonderful acts of kindness shown us by neighbors and friends during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved daughter, Carol Ann Sauro. We are especially grateful to those who sent spiritual and floral offerings, those who donated the use of their cars, those who served as pallbearers and all others who aided us in so many ways. The memory of these acts of kindness will always remain with us.

NATIONAL BANK IS 10 YEARS OLD

The Bank Was Founded Oct. 13, 1934 Here

The First National Bank of Manistique located in the First National Bank building at the corner of Cedar and Walnut streets is celebrating its tenth anniversary of founding in 1934 today. It was on Oct. 31, 1934 that the bank first opened its doors for business here.

Since its opening, the bank has steadily grown till today it has over a million dollars in deposits. As of Sept. 30, 1944, the total of deposits was $1,515,313.66.

Fred Hahne has been manager of the bank since its founding in 1934. A statement made by him on the occasion in that capacity reads in part as follows:

"For the funds entrusted to our care, we wish at this time to express a word of thanks and appreciation to our customers."

Present officers of the bank are: James C. Wood, president and chairman of the board; George A. Shaw, vice-president; Fred H. Hahne, executive vice-president; J. Mauritz Carlson, cashier; Roy E. Anderson, assistant cashier.

The board of directors is composed of James C. Wood, George A. Shaw, Peter Glusiano, J. L. LeDuc, William Bowman and Fred H. Hahne.

Employees at the bank are: Josephine Buchs, Kathryn Richey, Helen Schaurer and Katherine Nelson.

The bank will hold open house today beginning at 9:30 a. m. throughout the business day. Refreshments will be served.

Social

Presbyterian Women's Society—The Women's Society of the Presbyterian church met Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors.

An interesting program on social education was presented by the committee composed of Mrs. James C. Wood and Mrs. Charles Manson. Mrs. Lottie Woodford gave an interesting report on social education of children, labor and racial problems.

Tasty refreshments were served at the close of the program. Hostesses were Mrs. John McKilligan and Mrs. Irma Brown.

Guild Meeting—A regular meeting of the Presbyterian Guild was held Wednesday evening in the church parlors, with the Missionary committee in charge.

Plans were discussed during the business session for the rummage sale which the guild is sponsoring on November 4.

Tasty refreshments were served at the close of the evening. Hostesses for this meeting were Mrs. Alex Creighton and Mrs. Clarence Chase.

Mrs. Nick Modders was a guest at this meeting.

Man Charged With Grand Larceny Is Apprehended

State police apprehended Harold McCarney at the home of his sister on Arbutus street Wednesday on a warrant issued by the Flint, Michigan police for grand larceny.

McCarney has been wanted to answer that charge since June 15 of this year. Flint officers arrived Thursday to take him back for arraignment.

Improves Wood

A chemical for treating wood by a new process makes soft woods hard, hard woods softer, minimizes their tendency to swell, shrink or warp, and improves their durability and strength. The process will enable manufacturers to use plentiful, low-cost woods instead of scarce, costlier varieties and renders wood more resistant to flame, rot, pests and chemicals.

DRIVE FOR WAR FUND IS BEGUN

Gladstone Quota $7,800 Up 50 Per Cent Over 1943

The 1944 War Fund drive opens in Gladstone, as in the rest of Delta county, today.

A. T. Solberg again serves as local chairman and the following form letter over his signature is being sent to all who contributed a year ago and to all prospective donors:

"The 1944 War Fund campaign will open in Delta county on October 16.

"The Gladstone quota for 1944 is $7,800—an increase over that of last year of 56.8 per cent. In order to reach our quota it will be necessary for us to increase our total contributions actually by one-third.

"We have reason to believe that industry and business will increase their contributions in the proper proportion. Then if all employed persons will do what we asked of them last year—give one day's pay—we shall reach our goal. We think, as we said last year, that this is a small sacrifice for us to make who may remain comfortably at home, for the benefit of those who give all their days, and whose sacrifices have been so immeasurably great.

"Your contributions will help, in the first place, to maintain the United States Organizations, the United Seamen's Service, and the Prisoners' Aid. Another portion is divided among the many organizations that bring aid and comfort to thousands of the unfortunate who have found themselves directly in the path of war.

"Your contribution will also help to provide funds for the Boy Scouts of your county, the Salvation Army, the Camp Fire Girls, and for emergency aid to soldiers and their families.

"You may make your contribution through your union or brotherhood or your club but we plan nevertheless to make a house-to-house canvass so that we may be sure that every person who can do so has an opportunity to do his share.

"When our solicitor calls at your home or your place of business may we hope that he or she will be received courteously, and as a representative of a worthy cause.

"We thank you for your contribution of last year. We trust you will give as cheerfully and even more generously this year."

William L. Marble is vice chairman of the county committee.

Forming the Gladstone committee are A. Theodore Solberg, chairman; Mrs. June Roland, secretary; Wm. L. Marble, Stanley Venne, B. R. Micks, Jas. T. Jones, A. C. Peterson, Jos. LaFramboise, Ed Huesener, Mrs. C. B. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. J. P. Louis, Walter Tang, Ollie Nelson, H. J. Henrickson, Carl Nyberg, Jr., for CIO Unions, and Hector Berglund, for Buckeye Union.

The Kremlin in Moscow covers about 63 acres.

William Marble at Meeting of Bureau

Representing Delta county and the Gladstone City club, William L. Marble, member of the executive committee is attending the 34th annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau at Ironwood yesterday and today.

"Development of the Porcupine Mountain State Park" will be the subject of a talk by Charles Boelher, Division of State Parks, Department of Conservation, Lansing, this afternoon. Grover C. Dillman, president of Houghton Tech, will also speak and his subject is to be "Plans for the Post-war Period."

Arrangements have been made to take persons attending the Development Bureau meeting on a trip through the Porcupine Mountain area. Transportation will be provided and lunch served.

The state recently appropriated $100,000 for development of the Porcupine mountain state park as a winter sports area.

drawbacks.

I know of two cases where soldiers were sleeping in narrow slit trenches and the loose sand slid in on them without waking them up. They were smothered to death.

Our tank warfare has shown two things—that a large number of our tanks catch fire when badly hit, and that although the fire is all over the place in a few seconds, the majority of the crews are able to get out safely and struggle back to camp.

In wartime living you relearn little things you had forgotten years ago. Such things, for example, as lighting a cigarette simply by putting it over the chimney of a coal-oil lamp and puffing.

One day I was up on a mountain with some troops who were holding a forward outpost. They were in such an inaccessible and perilous place that they were getting just one meal a day, and artillery fire was whining over their heads constantly. Yet right in the midst of that a truck arrived at the foot of the mountain and here came soldiers lugging up sacks of mail. The boys were getting their letters right on the firing line.

You hardly ever hear Italian soldiers referred to as Italians. It's either "Eyeties" or "Wops" or "Guineas."

In one case the reason for abandoning "Italian" was a concrete one. In this case a mountain lookout reported that "Three Italians" were coming up the hill. The officer who heard it thought he said "three battalions," and ordered a heavy barrage dropped in that area.

When the lookout called back to ask why such heavy shooting, the misunderstanding was straightened out. But from then on, all men in that outfit were instructed to refer to Italians as "Guineas."

I saw the tragic remnants of a jeep that got a direct hit from a 500-pound German bomb. Three soldiers were in it, and they were blown to disintegration. Nothing was found of them to bury.

But searchers did find scattered coins, knives and bits of clothing. One soldier had a pocket Bible, and about half of its sheets were found.

Another had a large pad of currency—bills just folded over once. And the reason I'm telling this story—those bills were blown together with such force that it was impossible to get them apart. You couldn't even strip off one bill with a pocketknife. The blast had vulcanized them together, without tearing any holes in them.

The word telegraph is derived from the Greek "tele," meaning afar, and "graphein," to write.

GEORGE KOLSON IS DECORATED

Air Force Gunner Given Air Medal, DFC For Heroic Service

After spending a well-earned 20 day furlough visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Kolson, at Brampton, S. S. George C. Kolson, air force veteran, has left for a rest camp at Miami, Fla., from which point he will be reassigned.

Sgt. Kolson, a waist gunner on a B-24 or Flying Fortress, was returned to the United States after having completed 35 combat missions over Europe. He had been stationed at an 8th Air Corps Army air base in England.

Strangely, the only person he met from around here while in England was his sister, Lt. Leone M. Kolson, Army Nurses Corps, who is stationed at a general hospital in England.

Sgt. Kolson has received the Air Medal, Three Oak Leaf Clusters and has also been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

The citation which accompanied the Flying Cross reads in part: "For extraordinary achievement while serving as right waist gunner on numerous bombardment missions against enemy installations over German occupied Continental Europe. Sergeant Kolson repelled numerous hostile fighter attacks by his excellent marksmanship, thereby assuring the safety of the crew and aircraft. The courage, presence of mind and devotion to duty while engaged in aerial combat on all these occasions are in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Army Air Forces."

The citation for the Oak Leaf Clusters reads: "For exceptionally meritorious achievement, while participating in heavy bombardment missions over enemy occupied Continental Europe. The courage, coolness and skill displayed by this enlisted man upon these occasions reflects great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

One of the group, Calvin Willis, 19, was arraigned before Justice Estenson and sent to jail for 30 days for stealing gasoline from Gunnar Holmberg at Kipling.

Breakings and enterings solved include the homes of Ralph Cartwright, Oscar Brodene, Elmer Tyvainen and Shave, the cottage of Mrs. Jeannette Malnor and the John Strand grocery.

Investigations are being continued by the police.

County juvenile authorities have been called in to take a hand.

It is probable that one of the youths will be subjected to a mental test.

One-third of the world's 7,000,000 miles of telegraph wire is in the United States.

City Briefs

Mrs. Elizabeth Black has returned to her home here following a two-months' visit with her daughter, Mrs. Peter Kalifidas, in Milwaukee.

Mr. E. Hutchinson, custodian at the golf club, has been admitted to St. Francis hospital as a medical patient.

Fay Pierce, Lansing, member of the Michigan Public Service commission, visited here yesterday with Charles Gogarn.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Osterberg of Rock visited yesterday at the Charles Gogarn home, 1402 Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Roy Gangstad has returned from a week's visit with her husband, Roy A. Gangstad, F. 2/C, who is attending a Naval Training School at Purdue university, LaFayette, Ind., and with relatives in Chicago.

YOUTHFUL GANG IS BROKEN UP

Series Of Burglaries Solved; 7 Boys Are Involved

A gang which has committed a series of breakings and enterings here has been broken up with the apprehension of seven youths. All but one are minors.

The cases were solved by city and state police who obtained confessions from two youths to one burglary earlier and from that start added investigation disclosed five more youths involved in crimes which include a series of six breakings and enterings, one larceny of gasoline and malicious destruction of property.

One of the group, Calvin Willis, 19, was arraigned before Justice Estenson and sent to jail for 30 days for stealing gasoline from Gunnar Holmberg at Kipling.

Breakings and enterings solved include the homes of Ralph Cartwright, Oscar Brodene, Elmer Tyvainen and Shave, the cottage of Mrs. Jeannette Malnor and the John Strand grocery.

Patrons May Return Library Books Today Without Any Penalty

Today has been designated as Free Day at the Gladstone public and school library and persons having overdue books may return them today during regular hours without penalty.

Library patrons who have books out but are unable to return them are urged by Mrs. M. J. Neveaux, acting librarian, to visit the library and explain the reason.

Surgical Lifesaver

Scientists have developed a new method of producing prothrombin, the blood-clotting substance found in human blood. It takes two main materials from animal blood and from meat juices, thus making unlimited production possible. For use as a lifesaver in both war and peacetime surgery.

CRISLER TUNES UP HIS DEFENSE

Game With Wildcats May Be Decided In The Air

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 12 (AP)—Coach H. O. "Fritz" Crisler on Thursday put final touches on his defensive machine and ordered a series of hibernating workouts for Friday prior to Saturday's clash with Northwestern in Michigan stadium.

The Wildcats, defeated in their last two games, are scheduled to arrive in Ann Arbor at 3 p. m. Friday and will get in a workout on Michigan soil an hour later.

Drill session sideline observers are amusing themselves with speculation as to how many passes freshman John Youngworth will complete against the Wolverines, who have done little else this week than prepare defenses aimed at stopping the Wildcats' tiny tosser, who possesses the best passing average in the Big Ten.

Saturday's game will mark the half-way mark in Michigan's 10-game schedule and will be followed by a one-week break during which most of the gridirons will concentrate on final examinations more than on football. Idle Oct. 21, the Wolverines will resume gridiron activities against Purdue, the team with which it shared the 1943 championship, here on Oct. 28.

Thursday night's practice period kept up the week's tempo and added to the suggestion that Saturday's game may be decided in the air. Pass defense and pass offense consumed most of Crisler's attention but astute Michigan followers remembered that the same thing has happened before and that Michigan then concentrated on its running game during the actual contest.

Church Service
Cooks—Sunday Oct. 15th. Mary Magdalene church, Mass at 8:00 a. m.

Parties
A stork shower was arranged by Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. H. Popour and Mrs. George Lakosky at the home of Mrs. Claude Segerstrom Wednesday afternoon honoring Mrs. Ernest Miller. Cards were played and a delicious lunch served. Mrs. Miller received many useful gifts.

A birthday party was given in honor of Mr. Lund Sr. at the Oscar Lund home Saturday night. All members of his family were present and had a good time together.

Personals
Word has been received here that H. Selby Sr., of Niagara Falls died suddenly. He was the father of Mrs. Clinton Wiles who had reached there before his death and was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Selby of Manistique and also her husband and two sons. Selby was the former Virginia Wehner.

Visitors at the John Neadow home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Neadow and family. Mr. and Mrs. Felix Cayemberg and daughter Marie, Mrs. Floyd Anderson and daughter of Isabella and Miss Betty Neadow of Nahma.

Briefly Told

Children's Program—The Salvation Army will present motion pictures for the children of the community at the Army Temple, 112 North Fifteenth street, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Palermo Four also will be present.

Ask Driver Report—Escanaba police yesterday requested the driver of the car which struck Joy Hogan, 14, at 6:45 p. m. Tuesday while the girl was walking near her home on Old State Road, to report the accident to the police station. The girl was only slightly injured.

Election School—A school of instruction for chairmen of election boards of Delta county voting precincts will be held in the court house at 7 p. m. Monday, October 16, it was announced yesterday by County Clerk Theodore Ohlen. The county clerk and Acting Prosecutor Torval E. Strom will inform the election officials of their duties in the forthcoming November 7 election.

Fellowship Union—Young people of three Escanaba churches are united in the Youth Fellowship Union, in which an election of officers was held Wednesday night. The groups come from the Presbyterian, Methodist and Episcopal churches, and not from the Methodist church alone as suggested in a previous item regarding the Union.

Obituary

JAMES LA CROSSE
The body of James LaCrosse, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. August LaCrosse, who died Wednesday of tetanus, which developed from a piece of glass in his leg, will be in state at the Alto funeral home beginning this morning. Services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church, with the Very Rev. Fr. Thomas A. Kennedy officiating, and burial will be in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery.

GEORGE THEOBALD
Funeral services for George Theobald, 85, who died Tuesday morning, will be held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Anne's church. Rev. Fr. Joseph E. Guertin will officiate and burial will be in Gardens of Rest. Pallbearers will be Edward DeMars, Daniel Bunno, Joseph Hirn, Peter Weyerdt, Theodore Dugener and Fred LeFleur.

Golf Club Party Planned Saturday

An afternoon and evening of fun is on schedule for men and women at the Escanaba Golf Club Saturday. The event will be along the lines of the popular stag parties staged at the club, but this time will include the women as well. There will be entertainment at the clubhouse both afternoon and evening, and for those who wish to golf there will be mixed foursomes with truck service. Dinner will be served at 6:30, and will be followed by more entertainment features. A special invitation is being extended women of the club to attend the "mixed stag", which will be one of the final social events of the year at the club.

Hon. and Mrs. D. F. Morrison left Sunday on a business trip to Lansing. While enroute home they will call on relatives in Detroit and Grand Rapids.

A. C. McKennon of Marquette spent a few days this week at the home of his sister, Mrs. Hugh Slay.

Mrs. Howard Stauffer and William Menore of Detroit spent a few days last week at the home of Norman Stauffer and calling on other relatives and friends. Thurman Ekarritt, U. S. N., returned Wednesday to Great Lakes, Ill., after spending a few days here with his family.

Mrs. Doza, Huyek of Pickford spent a few days last week at the home of her mother, Mrs. Jennie Menore.

William Caffey left Monday for Rochester, Minn. where he will go through the Mayo Clinic.
Mrs. Kenneth Campbell returned home Friday after spending a week at the University hospital in Ann Arbor where she submitted to two minor operations.
Mr. and Mrs. John Talkowski of Detroit and Mrs. Clare Henry and children of Whitmore Lake arrived here Saturday and are visiting relatives at the Joseph Smith home.

Club Meets
The Community Club held its first meeting of the season on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harvey Saunders. Business occupied most of the afternoon and plans were discussed for the Hunter's Bazaar, which will be held on Nov. 18.

At the close of the afternoon a buffet lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Saunders.
The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. K. Carson on Oct. 12.

Mrs. Thurman Skarritt made a business trip to Manistique Tuesday.

Townships Organize For War Fund Drive

Sixty-one township committee members and chairmen received instructions and working material for the county-wide war fund drive, following a dinner at the Sherman Hotel last night.
Emphasizing that the $40,000 fund raising campaign is not a "small change" proposition, W. C. Cameron, who acted as toastmaster at the meeting, urged workers to contact everyone in his district. Ralph Sheehan, Marquette, explained that workers should get into the drive with the right point of view—an enthusiastic and determined effort to put the drive over the top.

The folks on the home front, said Sheehan, have a job to do in maintaining their communities. He urged the workers to extend their efforts after the drive is completed so that soldiers returning after the war will find their homes worth coming back to.

Although the goal is the largest yet attempted in Delta county, several township chairmen expressed their determination to over-subscribe their quotas.
